

At The Industrial Maintenance Group Ltd:

We are dedicated to supply quality products that consistently satisfy customer requirements and all applicable legal and other compliance obligations within a framework of an integrated Quality and Environmental Management System appropriate to the purpose and context of the organization including the environmental impacts of our activities, products, and services.

This is achieved through a commitment to continual improvement by setting objectives and targets to enhance the performance of our activities which is continually reviewed for effectiveness by our audit and management review processes in accordance with the strategic business direction.

Our system promotes an excellent service to our customers, protection of the environment, pollution prevention, waste avoidance, recycling and the sustainable use of resources from a lifecycle perspective through consultation and participation with our employees, customers, and stakeholders.

Roger Gundry
Managing Director

At Metalyte Pipeworks Ltd:

We are dedicated to supply quality products and provide repair and restoration services that consistently satisfy customer requirements and all applicable legal and other compliance obligations within a framework of an integrated Quality and Environmental Management System appropriate to the purpose and context of the organization including the environmental impacts of our activities, products, and services.

This is achieved through a commitment to continual improvement by setting objectives and targets to enhance the performance of our activities which is continually reviewed for effectiveness by our audit and management review processes in accordance with the strategic business direction.

Our system promotes an excellent service to our customers, protection of the environment, pollution prevention, waste avoidance, recycling and the sustainable use of resources from a lifecycle perspective through consultation and participation with our employees, customers, and stakeholders.

Roger Gundry
Managing Director